

SLM24 600mm Spirit Level

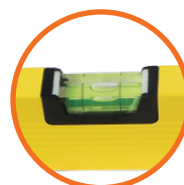

Crafted from tough, hardened aluminum, the SLM24 Spirit Level is your reliable tool for precise measurements in various applications. With three-way functionality for horizontal, vertical, and 45° angle finding, it's versatile for your projects. The vials, featuring a yellowish-green tint with UV protection additives, ensure accurate readings in all lighting conditions. This spirit level, shaped like a barrel, measures slopes in fractions per foot of pitch and is accurate to 0.5mm per meter (0.0286 degrees) in a normal position. With protective end caps and shock-resistant vials, it's built to last, performing flawlessly in temperatures from -20°F to 130°F. Whether you're a professional or a DIY enthusiast, the SLM24 offers precision in a rugged design.
